

The Anita Kaufmann Foundation, whose mission is to educate the public not to fear people with epilepsy and brain trauma, will sponsor a gala chocolate recipe contest and will have celebrity cookbook signings on Wednesday, April 6, from 6 to 8:30 p.m. This event will also be a celebration of the foundation's first anniversary.

One of the foundation's largest projects is the Anita

Kaufmann Epilepsy Education Center in Soroka Medical Center in Beersheva, Israel. The center will develop methods and techniques for educating specific occupational groups that have extensive daily contact with the public about epilepsy and how to handle someone who is having a seizure.

For information, visit www.akfus.org.